

Future Brightest Now, Pace Tells St. John's College High Banquet

The future for the United States is brighter now than ever before, Army Secretary Pace declared last night.

"There is more happiness per square inch in this country today than ever before," the new Army Secretary told some 700 persons at the fourth annual St. John's College High School father-son banquet in the Hotel Statler.

Addressing the students in particular, Mr. Pace said they "have greater opportunities than at any other time in our history."

During the brief ceremonies, Edward J. Hickey, president of the sponsoring Men of St. John's, presented a check for $2,500 to Brother E. Clement, president of the institution. This sum represents the annual contribution made by the fathers' booster club for financial aid to needy students who might otherwise be forced to withdraw from school.

Joe Gallagher, coach at St. John's, read the list of some 120 boys who had won "J" awards during the past seasons in various sports activities.

Toastmaster for the dinner was A. Devitt Vanech, Assistant Attorney General. Entertainment was under the direction of Tiny Meeker.

Among guests were United States Attorney George Morris Fay, Judges Matthew F. McGuire and Edward M. Curran of District Court, and Judges Aubrey B. Fennell and Milton S. Kronheim, Jr., of Municipal Court.

Flying Saucers On Met Screen Truly Deadly

A man named Mikel Conrad who produced, directed and stars in "The Flying Saucer" at the Metropolitan may deny that he knew the camera was loaded but this will not absolve him.

Conrad has produced a picture of such amateurishness that there is a kind of imbecile fascination in watching it. It goes all the way back to the beginning of the movies for its technique and where it found its players is something that only Conrad ever will know.

What it has to say about flying saucers is absolutely nothing at all and the story it has to tell about a rich playboy named Mike Trent and a gal Government Agent is unfathomably dull.

A much better, if less novel, excuse for going to the Met this week is "Four Days' Leave." This is a vindictive looking comedy starring Cornel Wilde which reviews a week end spent by a handful of American service men in Switzerland. The Swiss scenery makes a beautiful backdrop for the familiar antics of Wilde and his associates, the most artful of whom is Josette Day who has done ably by much more exciting roles in French pictures.

Montana Christmas trees are sold in every State north of the Ohio and west of the Mississippi Rivers.

Georgetown U. to Award 32 Vincennial Medals

The first annual Vincennial Medal celebration of Georgetown University will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Dahlgren Chapel on the university campus.

The medals will be presented to 32 persons, four posthumously, who have served on the school's faculty or in administrative work for 20 years or more. Oldest faculty member in terms of length of service to receive the award will be Dr. John D. Hird, who began teaching at the school in 1897 and now is executive secretary and treasurer of the medical school.

The medal is engraved with the statue of Archbishop John Carroll, founder of the university. It bears the name of the recipient on one side, and the great seal of the university on the other. The Very Rev. Hunter Guthrie, university president, will present the medals.
